An attempt by Moscow to get vital information on mineral resources in the State of Mississippi was halted at the University of Mississippi by the State Geological Survey. An organization identified itself as Vsesoyuzny Institut Mineralnogo Syrja Fizykeskiy of Moscow, USSR, sent a book order to the "University of Mississippi Press" for four bulletins published by the Survey. Bulletins ordered contained "fact" estimates of the state reserve of vital minerals such as oil. The survey office said. The Russian school was informed that such orders must be cleared with the State Department in Washington. "We've suddenly developed a shortage of these particular bulletins."

The Webb School P-T. A. is planning a bazaar for November 8. Your attendance and help will be greatly appreciated.

Klin community is starting a drive for funds for a C. Y. O. building and parish hall. A benefit movie will be shown at Klin school Sunday, October 19, at 3:00 p. m. and attend at 7:30 p. m. Your donation will be a great help toward the realization of this project which is sorely needed.

It has always been a policy of this paper to print letters from the public. We are always happy to print such letters that may come into the office, only if they contain constructive criticism. We do not intend printing any letters written in revenge on anyone. If you have the interest of your community at heart, you will not seek to use these columns, nor will you be able to do so, for petty, personal matters. If you must write, write a letter that contains constructive criticism not a letter touching on personalities, etc.

Tuesday, November 4, we will go to the polls to vote for a new president. Regardless of how you vote, go to the polls and exercise your right that our men have fought through the centuries to keep. If you are in need of transportation, the new car dealers in Bay St. Louis will provide you with a way to the polls. Call Gulf Chevrolet, 424; Ben Hill Motors, 100; Bay Motors, 340; or Porter's Pontiac Service, 95. You will not have to wait for a ride. ### Sheriff Warns Against Purchasing Out-Of-State License Tags

Mississippi license tags went on sale in all counties October 1, and must be on cars by October 31, Sheriff John A. Egloff announced.

Sheriff Egloff added that few tags have been purchased, and he advised everyone to secure their tags before October 31, at which time a penalty will be imposed.

Sheriffs in border counties on both sides of Mississippi are warning citizens against buying cheaper tags in Alabama and Louisiana rather than the more expensive home plates.

State Motors Vehicle Comptroller Guy McCullen said Tuesday he has received complaints from sheriffs in several of the border counties and has informed them that penalties are assessable.

Sheriff Egloff has announced that all of his deputies are authorized to check all out-of-state tags and if the owner is a resident of Mississippi and has no legitimate reason why the tag was purchased, he will be prosecuted according to law.

Any person living in Mississippi "is warned that the Sheriff or other law enforcement officials can make arrests for a wrong license tag and force the car owner to pay a full year's license fee plus a 25 per cent penalty," McCullen said.

The law prevents a Mississippi resident from buying the $3.00 license tags sold in Alabama or Louisiana, he said. Louisiana has had the cheaper plates for years, but Alabama just reduced its plates for 1953.

The same rule applies inside the state where some car owners buy tags in adjoining counties to dodge ad valorem taxes at home, McCullen added.

Decorations throughout the home were carried out in the Harvest theme, and favors were presented by Mrs. E. M. Bontemps, games and a buffet supper were enjoyed by all.

Governor Proclaims Oil, Progress Week

Governor Hugh White today proclaimed October 12th to 18th inclusive as Mississippi Oil Progress Week.

The proclamation announced that the observance is to be held so that the oil men who live and work in this community may report to their neighbors on the contributions and service which their industry renders to all the public.

During the week designated the proclamation said, oil men engaged in producing, transporting, refining and marketing petroleum products will cooperate to inform the public about the ways in which their industry has helped make America the very symbol of progress, comfort and security.

Governor White described Mississippi's oil men as "friends, neighbors and good citizens," and called attention to the "initiative, skill and daring" by which America's competing oil companies serve the nation.

A number of special events and speeches to community audiences by local oil men will mark Mississippi Oil Progress Week, according to J. P. Scott, State Chairman of the Oil Industry Information Committee.

NEW POST OFFICE GOVERNMENT OWNED

Post Master Walters Terrell, says the new government-owned Post Office Building located at 227 Davis Avenue contains 16,000 feet of floor space. The building is well located, centrally serving all areas of Pass Christian and has the added advantage of adequate parking facilities for both the public and mail delivery service use. The building which housed the Pass Christian Post Office until very recently was situated on Beach Boulevard and its location created something of a traffic problem since through-traffic was slowed down and townspeople frequently yielded to the temptation of zig-zag driving in order to conveniently post a letter.

FRESHMEN ON SLAVE BLOCK

Pass High Freshmen, sold into the bondage of upper classmen "recently at prices" ranging from 35c to around $6.00 each, find life of servitude a hard lot. Marked men and put in the caste of "Do All The Dirty Work" these wretches are known to all by the "Beasties" they are required to wear. Money from the Slave Market went into the treasury and toward the end of the school year it will help to finance a Junior-Senior feast. Since no upper-classmen of Pass High are cannibalistic the Fresh Slave is comfortable with the thought he will not be required to attend the banquet.

Forest Fires Cause Serious Damage

County Agent's Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

FOREST FIRES

Conditions in many parts of the state are critical for forest fires. The weather powder dry in many cases and a fire, once started will be hard to stop. One careless moment in our dry forests can lay waste to large areas. Not only are valuable trees killed and wasted each year, but pastures and homes, as well as can be burned completely by out-of-hand forest fires.

Prevent your woods and pastures from burning over. Be extra careful when burning trash, leaves or weed patches. When smoking when driving, use the ash tray. Do not throw away lighted cigarettes or matches from cars.

Build fire lanes between pastures and roadsides, between pastures and woods and between road and woods. Remember it is better to be safe than sorry. It can be fatal, you know.

COTTON FIRES

Cotton is valuable so stop burning it. It only takes one spark to ignite an entire load of cotton. When hauling cotton remember that just one spark from a lighted cigarette can cost you the whole load.

In many cases "fire-packed bales" are responsible for burning crops of cotton. Sometimes entire warehouses are destroyed by these fire-packed bales. Many of these fire-packed bales result from rocks or bits of metal in seed cotton.

Play it safe - keep rocks and metal out of cotton and don't smoke near cotton.

PASTURES

Timely Tips. Build fire lanes around pastures and hay stacks to prevent scarce feed from burning up. Sow white clover, red clover or winter peas, whichever you like best, in established fescue where clover was killed out. Sow winter peas on John-sun, Bermuda and Fescue areas.

Don't depend on ryegrass to volunteer back to a good stand.

Among the school patrons and teachers attending Teen-Town Canteen last week were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lively, Mr. and Mrs. Gladys Mangum, Mrs. William Kall, Mrs. William Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jeffcoat, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atchley, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Van Landingham, Mrs. Roy Moffitt and Mr. Kneeland.

SJA Parents Meet

Fifty-three members attended the meeting of the St. Joseph Academy Parents Club Tuesday evening, October 7.

Mrs. Ben Hille, hostess chairman, introduced Mr. Mason and Mr. Friedlund of the Veterans Administration who showed a film on Volunteer Services.

The organization presented Mother Mary of the Rosary a check on the occasion of her feast day which was Tuesday.

The entrance prize, a pot plant, was won by Mrs. L. Jacob, and the first grade won the attendance prize.

POULTRY

Now is a good time to get poultry houses ready for winter. Close up all but one side of the house to prevent drafts. Plenty of ventilation is needed in the winter to keep the house dry but no cross-drafts should be allowed in the poultry house.

Market Trends. Top grade eggs are in short supply with prices steady. Medium and smaller eggs are bringing somewhat low prices. Broiler prices are high for the time of year with market steady. Less potential layers are on farms since 1941. This will mean a smaller egg production during the first half of next year. Turkey prices are lower reflecting big marketing season just ahead.

SOCKS, HOSIERY PRICE CONTROLS LIFTED BY OPS

Women's nylon hosiery is included in an order which suspends ceiling price controls on all types of hosiery except those sold for surgical or corrective use, R. W. May, district director of the Jackson Office of Price Stabilization, announced this week.

In addition to nylon hosiery, he said, the suspension order applies to men's, women's, and children's socks and anklets, as well as slipper socks.

Mr. May explained that surgical and corrective hosiery, such as elastic stockings, is covered by other ceiling price regulations.

Manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers of hosiery may easily determine whether this order suspends ceilings on their products by calling Jackson Price Executive, Office of Price Stabilization, 126 East Amite Street, Jackson, Mississippi.

CUT IN MIXED FEEDS

Current prices for mixed feeds containing a high percentage of soybean meal will be reduced as much as $10 per ton under a newly issued ceiling price regulation, OPS announced.

Officials said that although the new regulation prescribes a $8 per ton higher ceiling price on pure soybean meal, f. o. b. Decatur, Ill., it also provides a formula for use in pricing soybean mixes. Use of the formula generally will bring prices of these substitute cattle and poultry feeds down to or below the level of the new ceiling price for straight meal.

The higher ceiling is designed to place soybean meal in a better position to compete with other oil-seed feed products.

The formula for pricing mixes is designed to block a growing tendency of sellers to convert soybean meal into mixed feeds, which, under the former regulation, would command higher prices. This conversion resulted in reduced supplies of the pure meal. Feed manufacturers who had formerly complained about farmers' warping the market to pay more for feeds, the mixes, thus leveling for pure soybean meal.

FOOD CEILING

Community pricing ceiling prices on 500 varieties for market-basket items including cereals, coffee, scores of other foods, the Office of Price Stabilization.

FOODS NOT COVERED

Community pricing does not list ceiling prices on many canned, or frozen fruits and vegetables because these foods are exempted from price controls by Congress, according to the Office of Price Stabilization.

Adding complex and costly equipment that you never see is one of the big and necessary parts of making it possible for you to reach more and more Mississippians by telephone.

Southern Bell's continuous expansion and improvement program in Mississippi means more new telephones and better service—means all telephones become more useful—and a bigger value than ever before. Just since 1945, Southern Bell workers have added over 126,000 new telephones in Mississippi homes, stores, farms and factories. In this short time the number of telephones has more than doubled.

Keeping telephone facilities growing plays an important part in keeping Mississippi prosperous and in tying together our national defense effort.

HOME AGENT NOTES

by: Miss Sarah Weaver, Home Agent

Try eating more honey. It is a natural, unrefined food made by the honeybees from the nectar of flowers and stored in small waxen cells of the honeycomb. It is both good and good for you.

The flavor of honey varies with the kind of flower from which the bees gather the nectar. According to U. S. Grades and color standards for honey, there are seven color classifications: water white, extra white, white, extra light, light, light amber, amber and dark.

The grades of honey, however, are not based on color, but largely on freeness from foreign matter in extracted honey and upon fineness and whiteness of cappings. The combination of honey and wax is uniformity, two or more honeys are often blended. This helps to insure the same color, flavor and consistency of the product.

Honey is made from different crops. In fact, there are about 25 varieties sold in the United States. If you are one who says you do not like honey, just which variety is it that you do not like? Is it cotton blossom, orange blossom, buckwheat, alfalfa, tupelo tree, or one of the many varieties of clover, or something else?

You can usually buy honey in three forms: extracted honey, section comb and bulk comb. The newest addition to the honey market is "whip honey" or "crystalized honey."

Extracted honey is separated from the comb by centrifugal force on the principle used in a cream separator. Section-comb honey is sold in the wooden frames as taken from the bee hives. Bulk comb, or chunk honey, consists of pieces of comb with extracted, "or liquid honey poured over them.

Honey keeps well at room temperature, if you store it in a dry place. Do not put honey in the refrigerator. Freezing does not injure the color or flavor but may cause sugar crystals or granules to form. In the event granules form, place the honey container in a bowl of warm water - not hot - until all crystals are melted. Put a cloth or rack under the container at time of heating.

USES OF HONEY

Honey has many uses. It is used as a spread for bread, biscuit, pancakes and waffles; to sweeten fruits, beverages and cereals; in sauces; in frozen desserts; in sandwich fillings; in baking in candies in jams, jellies, preserves and in meringues.

ADJUSTING RECEIPTS FOR HONEY

Honey may be substituted for at least a part of the sugar in cakes and cookies, but the amount of liquid in the recipe must be decreased. If you substitute honey for one-half the sugar the recipe calls for, decrease the liquid one-fourth. If you use all honey in place of sugar, decrease the liquid one-half.

You can substitute honey measure for measure for molasses in a recipe. Since honey is less acid than molasses, the amount of soda used to neutralize the molasses may be omitted.

Products containing honey must be baked in a very moderate oven as the honey makes them brown readily.

Honey may be used in place of syrup in making candies, but only half as much will be needed to prevent the candy from crystallizing.

Why So Many Decide To BECOME CATHOLICS

Every week... all over the world... thousands of people are received into the Catholic Church as converts.

In some cases, they are prominent, even famous people, and newspapers and magazines will interview them to ask: "Why are you adopting the Catholic Faith?" Usually, however, these converts are just average people and nobody bothers to ask them "Why?"

Yet the reasons which prompt the average person to become a Catholic are tremendously impressive. They are worth the most careful study of all who seek the salvation of their immortal souls, and who search for spiritual truth in a world of confusion.

It isn't easy to become a Catholic. It involves more than a mere declaration of faith and regular attendance at a nearby church. Thorough instruction in Catholic beliefs and obligations comes first, and a firm and fervent conviction must be demonstrated. The Sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation, Penance and Holy Communion must follow. And these are only the beginnings of Catholic life and Catholic obligations.

Nobody would undertake to meet such rigid requirements out of mere curiosity, or as a passing fancy. It may be assumed, therefore, that the average person who is thinking of becoming a Catholic has been moved by some strong reasons to feel this way. Is it merely because he has friends and neighbors who are Catholic... because the Catholic Church spans the earth and dates back to the Apostles... because in the Catholic Church there is unity of creed and worship, authority and a distinctive form of ritual?

Free

An interesting pamphlet which you cannot obtain elsewhere... describing the experiences of average people who were originally non-Catholics but are now devoted members of the age-old, world-wide Catholic Church... explaining how and why they became Catholics... how and why the Catholic Faith can aid and enrich your personal and family life.
